

CAREER EXPLORATION OPPORTUNITIES!!

Come to these scheduled campus visit days directly related to your career interests. School classes and groups are welcome to attend many of these days, as well.

Endless Opportunities Day: March 5, 2012 – Explore the wide variety of career opportunities related to education, community leadership, and consumer issues for students interested in a broad-based understanding of family and consumer sciences.

Human Development and Family Studies Day: March 5, 2012 – Discover how aspiring professionals learn to address the daily challenges of families and individuals throughout their lifespan.

Hospitality and Event Management Day: March 5, 2012 – Learn about managing clubs, resorts, hotels, and restaurants, as well as tourism and event planning. [For prospective students and their guests only; high school groups are asked to contact deptdays@iastate.edu to schedule a visit.]

Food Science and Human Nutrition Day: March 6, 2012 – An inside look for prospective students and their family members at careers and majors working with food and nutrition, diet and exercise, and food product development. Interact with current students and faculty members and participate in hands-on workshops.

Behind the Scenes Day: April 13, 2012 – Attend the dress rehearsal for the annual Iowa State University Fashion Show, hear from our guest designer what the world of fashion is all about, talk to students who have interned in New York, participate in workshops, and much more!

Education (C & I) Day: April 20, 2012 – “Caring, competent, and certified” are the three “C’s” of teaching you will explore during this Teacher Education Career Day. Learn about teacher licensure and education-related majors, observe Lab School classes, discuss classroom diversity, and explore digital learning.
