

JAN 3

HOT TRENDS | Facebook | Colts | Lindsay Lohan | iPhone Alarm Glitch | Lewd Navy Video | Dead Birds | Zsa Zsa Gabor | Michelle Obama

Home > News

Purdue University extension starts 6-week program on business practices for farm women

By Associated Press
10:38 p.m. EST, December 30, 2010

 E-mail  Print  Share  Text Size

 Like  You like this. Unlike · Admin Page · Error
Lani ElleJoseph likes this. Be the first of your friends to like this. Unlike · Admin Page · Error

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue University says it's offering a six-week program starting next month to help farm women "become better business partners."

The program runs on Thursdays from Jan. 13 through Feb. 17 and is part of Annie's Project, offered by the Purdue Extension Women in Agriculture team.

The West Lafayette school says the program "includes critical decision-making and information topics on production, marketing, financial, legal and human resources risk management."

The program takes place at a variety of sites around the state. Purdue says sessions "combine lecture, discussion, individual and small group activities and computer training."

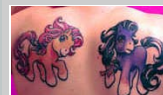

Online:

Purdue Women in Agriculture: <http://www.agriculture.purdue.edu/wia/>

Online:

<http://www.agriculture.purdue.edu/wia/>

POPULAR PICTURES

Tattoos: What Were They Thinking?

Real Pictures That Look Like Photoshops

Mugshots in the News

The Faces of Meth (New Images)

Sports Goddesses

Sexy Halloween Costume Pictures

Bizarre Border Busts

NFL jerseys of the future?

More Great Picture Galleries...

Advertisement

Iowa: Mom discovers $5 wrinkle trick. Dermatologists are scared you will learn this

Who are you getting your advice from? A fortune 500