

Mission Patches

A mission patch is developed for every space flight. Incorporated into the logo design are various elements depicting the different phases of that mission. Usually the crew of that flight designs the mission patch for their flight. Shown below are mission patches from former space missions.

