Iowa 4-H Hall of Fame: Don and Doris Goering

Don and Doris Goering’s involvement in 4-H has been a life-long commitment. Each of them were 4-H’ers as youth, Don in Scott County and Doris in Keokuk County. They also first met at State 4-H Conference, meeting on the bridge near Curtiss Hall.

Both Don and Doris became 4-H leaders in Story County. Don started the Building Beavers 4-H Club in Ames in the early 1970’s and was their leader for 9 years. Doris was the leader of the Ames Cycloneers 4-H club. She also led a special needs group and served as a resource leader for the Building Beavers. Doris was recognized as a 20-year 4-H leader in Story County.

They also shared a passion for the 4-H Communication program. For several years Doris served as the 4-H Communications Project Leader for Story County. Besides organizing the contest, she held workshops and developed resources for the 4-Hers. Doris started the Best in Communication Award.

Don’s extension career included 4-H positions at the county and state level. He was in charge of the 4-H State Conference for 14 years, worked with numerous Volunteer 4-H leaders’ Forums, and organized the State Communication program at the state fair for several years. He introduced extemporaneous speaking into the State communication program. To further recognize 4-Hers that excelled, they established the Goering Endowed 4-H Communications Scholarship.

Don and Doris have continued to volunteer at county and state 4-H events, assisting with 4-H reunions, exhibit entry day at the State Fair, as well as serving as county and State Fair communication judges. Including the generation before them, Don and Doris themselves, both of their children and their grandchildren, their 4-H family runs 4-generations deep.
