

Information sharing Iowa 4-H Youth Development

Iowa 4-H Youth Development strives to protect the personal information of youth throughout their 4-H experience. Data is collected during the enrollment process as well as registration for events and activities. This data is used for club placement, age-appropriate participation, and full engagement in events and activities throughout the year. In most cases these events and activities are internal to 4-H and staff create event and workshop placement for youth. In some situations, such as county fairs, our trusted partners are involved in placement of youth in classes and workshops. During the planning process with trusted partners, youth information such as name, age, and address can be shared. Information will only be shared with partners where a formal agreement is in place. This agreement will include purpose of the partnership, shared duties when appropriate, and purpose and use of sharing youth information. The agreement will also state consequences of misuse of youth information, including partnership termination.
