ISU Extension Master Gardener Answers Your Gardening Questions

Waterloo – Master Gardener Norman Lemmon is available to answer your gardening questions each Tuesday morning until November 1. Questions may be directed to him by calling 319.234.6811 or stopping by the Black Hawk County Extension office at 3420 University Avenue, Suite B. This is a free Extension service.

Mr. Lemmon is a certified master gardener and will work with you to provide answers to your questions, such as insect problems, lawn and tree diseases, caring and pruning of shrubs, propagating perennials, soil conditions, and planting, caring and watering vegetable and herb gardens or any plant-related problem that you may have. Norman consults with ISU staff, as needed, but does not make on-site visits.

Other resources offered by ISU Extension can be found at: http://www.yardandgarden.extension.iastate.edu/. Extension provides unbiased, research-based information and education to help Iowans make better decisions today and tomorrow.
