

Program Catalog

The Iowa State University Extension and Outreach program catalog is a communication tool to foster conversations about programming between councils within a region, between regions and specialists, and between program areas. It describes the core programs ISU Extension and Outreach offers statewide in four signature areas: economic development, food and the environment, health and well-being, and K-12 youth outreach.

The screenshot shows the homepage of the Iowa State University Extension and Outreach Program Catalog. The header includes the university name and navigation links like 'Home', 'Economic Development', 'Health & Well-being', etc. The main content area is titled 'Welcome to the Iowa State University Extension and Outreach Program Catalog' and features two main sections: 'Economic Development' and 'Health & Well-being'. Each section has a representative image and a short paragraph describing the focus of the programming in that area.

This screenshot displays the 'Table of Contents' page. It features a tree view of program categories. Under 'Economic Development', there are sub-categories like 'Workforce Development', 'Company Growth', and 'Company Productivity'. Each sub-category lists specific programs or training opportunities. A 'Print' button is located to the right of the list.

The program catalog is the result of a program development process that involved local and statewide needs assessment, data research, program development, and program delivery. The catalog lists each program's title, expected outcomes, description, intended audience, delivery method, delivery season, expectation of county partners, financial details, and a contact person. The catalog's table of contents provides a detailed list of program names that may be clicked on to bring up specific information about each program.

This screenshot shows the login interface. It has two main sections: 'Login With NetID' and 'Login With County Code'. The 'Login With NetID' section includes input fields for 'NetID' and 'Password', with a red error message 'Password is required' below the password field. The 'Login With County Code' section has a single input field for 'County Code'. Both sections have a 'Log In' button.

The program catalog is available at www.extension.iastate.edu/programcatalog. Council members should start in the box "Login with County Code" and enter the username "County Council Member." Capital letters and spaces are necessary.
