Your life is so busy, that obtaining a graduate degree may seem like a giant leap. But Iowa State offers many of the same courses taught on campus through accessible methods including online, via CD-ROM, DVD, videotape, or videoconferencing. Whether you want to keep your skills current, advance your career, or prepare for a career change, Iowa State will help you take steps to reach your goal.

Classes begin soon, so take your first step. Visit www.lifelearner.iastate.edu or call (800) 992-6371 to learn more. ISU offers more than 25 off-campus degree and certificate programs.
Iowa State off-campus programs offer convenience, quality, and accessibility. You may take courses now and apply for a program later. Up to nine credits of graduate work taken prior to admission to a degree program may be applied to a master’s program.

Select from more than 25 off-campus graduate degree and certificate programs including:

- Master of Agriculture
- Master of Community and Regional Planning
- Master of Education – Curriculum and Instructional Technology
- Master of Family and Consumer Sciences
- Master of Public Administration
- Master of Science in Computer Engineering
- Master of Science in Electrical Engineering
- Master of Engineering in Systems Engineering
- Power Systems Engineering Certificate
- Information Assurance Certificate
- Family Financial Planning Certificate
- Gerontology Certificate

Register for fall classes today!