

Old MacDonald has a farm...

...And on the farm there are engaging landscapes and activities that encourage exploration of nature, growing food and raising animals. The visual language of the farm invites visitors of all ages along a winding path of discovery, told through stories, signage, art, activities and vegetation.

...And on the farm there is a prairie rich with wildflowers that attract the bees and butterflies that help our food grow. Native prairie and trees line the path to a playful garden and mural that promote engaging learning opportunities.

...And on the farm there are animals galore. With a moo moo here and a baa baa there here a quack, there a quack, everywhere an opportunity for visitors to engage and interact with the animals of the farm and assist in farm chores. As the chores wrap up the adventure continues...

...And on the farm there are chickens roaming beneath the branches of apple trees, and new residential agriculture education where families have the opportunity to learn, grow and participate in gardens that provide food to the community.

...And on the farm there are active environments for creative play that promote activity for the young and the young at heart. The space offers room for family picnics, environmental learning, and wildlife exploration.

...And on the farm there is a relaxing landscape for reflection and leisurely strolls in and around the duck pond. Here a quack, there a quack, everywhere a quack quack...
