Effective consultation is challenging. Successful consultation agencies recruit and hire consultants with appropriate content background and communication skills. Supervisors and mentors orient and train consultants to use the required assessment tools and to use appropriate technical assistant strategies. They provide mentoring and coaching as consultants use these tools with clients. They evaluate the process and outcomes of consultation to improve services.