MISSION STATEMENT

- ◆ Foster fundamental research and advanced technology in the fields of precipitation and crystallization
- ◆ Work to influence the national research agenda in the field
- ◆ Clearinghouse for promoting industrial-academic joint research activities
- ◆ Promoting educational activities in the field
- ◆ Foster industrial and academic interactions in the field of crystallization
- ◆ Host a workshop incorporating a balance of presentations from academics and industry with ample time for discussion

FEE STRUCTURE

- ◆ Corporate participation fee of $1,200 per attendee
- ◆ Vendor or consultant fee of $1,500 for one attendee
- ◆ Tenure-track academic participants will receive partial reimbursement for travel expense

PRELIMINARY PROGRAM

Novel and Emerging Crystallization Technology

Zoltan Nagy, Purdue University
Chris Burcham, Eli Lilly & Company

Crystallization Across Industries

Paul Larsen, Dow Chemical
Jean Tom, Bristol-Myers Squibb

Fundamentals of Crystallization

Lotfi Derdour, GSK
Lian Yu, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Strategies for the Development and Application of Process Models

Kevin Girard, Pfizer, Inc.
Mark Barrett, The Applied Process Company

Phase Characterization and Selection

Aaron Cote, Merck
