

What is the IAIP Premises Identification System?

- The National Animal Identification System is a national animal health program that is being developed by the USDA and state animal health agencies, in cooperation with industry. This system consists of three parts—premises identification, animal identification and tracking of animal movement.
- Premises Identification is the first step in the NAIS, and involves assigning a unique number to premises involved in animal agriculture. Allied agricultural operations and non-producer participants can also be assigned Premises Identification Numbers.
- The Premises Identification System will record information such as addresses, names of contacts, the type of premises being registered, and a contact phone number. This information will be maintained by IDALS and key pieces will be shared with the USDA to be available for tracing purposes.
- At present time, the Premises Registration System is completely voluntary. Registration is done at no cost to the producer. Registering your premises now will not require you to participate in the other parts of the program.
